

The reason why 4th & 5th Grade does reading buddies at RLA is because it is important to teach younger kids to read and learn new words. Some kids really struggle with advanced words for their level. Reading appears to be one of the most important things. Almost everything involves reading, and you wouldn't be able to understand most of the things you do every day. That includes most of the things you love. Seriously, I can barely think of something that doesn't involve reading. In math, how would you understand any of your word problems? Reading is part of a good education. When you read, you learn what the words in the book your reading sound like. If you didn't know what the words sounded like, you wouldn't be able to watch television without knowing what was happening! You wouldn't know how to write, either. Authors write books, and that's because they learned how to read. The alphabet is pretty important too. Every letter you saw or read is in the alphabet. Life would be boring and terrible if people didn't know how to read. Trust me, reading makes life more exciting!
